

Jeffery Morris, Ph.D. is Director of the United States Environmental Protection Agency's (EPA) Existing Chemicals Risk Assessment Division (ECRAD), Office of Pollution Prevention and Toxics (OPPT), which is responsible for the assessment of existing chemicals under TSCA. Dr. Morris has been with the EPA since 1992 and spent 13 years in the Office of Research and Development (ORD) and then was Director of OPPT from 2016 to 2020, when he retired after 30 years of federal service. He rejoined EPA as ECRAD Director in February 2022. Before coming to OPPT, he served as the National Program Director for Nanotechnology, responsible for managing EPA's Nanomaterials Research Program in EPA's Office of Research and Development (ORD). Prior to his position as the National Program Director for Nanotechnology, Dr. Morris served as the Acting Director in the ORD Office of Science Policy.